PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The SF Global Balanced Portfolio Fund returned 0.8% in May, with the composite benchmark returning 1.5%.

Global equity markets were positive over the month returning 3.68% for sterling investors. However, there was significant regional dispersion with US equities outperforming those in Europe and the Emerging Markets. US equities ended the month 2.4% higher whereas Europe and EM fell back 0.8% and 0.1% respectively. A strengthening US Dollar has contributed towards a sell-off in emerging markets whilst in Europe, the political turmoil in Italy and Spain has created significant uncertainty with equities and government debt both selling off during the month. The flight to safety in light of the developments in Italy pushed down the yields on global government bonds resulting in positive total returns for holders of government debt.

Unsurprisingly given this backdrop, the Fund's best performing positions were those in the US equity space. The iShares S&P 500 ETF rose by 5.2%, contributing 32 basis points to the Fund's return, with the Findlay Park American Fund just behind with a return of 5.0%. The SF Global Best Ideas Fund also had a very good month, returning 4.3%, and outperforming its benchmark. The strategy benefited from its limited exposure to Financials, which underperformed as the political situation in Italy escalated, and its higher allocation to technology businesses that performed particularly well this month. The worst performer was the Blackrock Emerging Markets Local Currency Bond Fund (-3.5%) which had another difficult month as emerging markets sold off.

Regarding changes to the portfolio, we reduced the Fund's government bond exposure by trimming our position in the inflation-linked Gilt to 5% and also fully redeemed our position in the Pimco Investment Grade Credit Fund. The proceeds of these trades were invested into the BlueBay Global Investment Grade Corporate Bond Fund which we view as a more nimble "stock-picker" vehicle within the investment grade space. In addition, we topped up our position in the Pimco Income Fund which now makes up 7% of the portfolio.

ACTIVE MANAGERS IN FOCUS

The portfolio blends a mix of active, passive and factor strategies. Approximately 50% of the portfolio is invested in active managers where our conviction is the strongest. Below we outline two examples.

BlueBay Global Investment Grade Corporate Bond Fund

This strategy invests predominately into investment grade fixed income securities with investments sourced and evaluated through bottom-up fundamental research. It aims to outperform the Barclays Global Aggregate Corporate Bond Index by 1.5% per year, gross of fees, within a tracking error range of 0-3%. The strategy seeks to exploit a global investment universe, with typical exposure consisting of 80-250 issuers, and is permitted to take positions off-index. The Fund can also take short positions by buying credit default swaps (CDS) protection on specific issuers. Due to its size, we view this fund as a more nimble "stock-picker" and believe that this attribute will benefit the strategy in the current market environment.

PIMCO Income Fund

This fund offers diversified exposure to fixed income markets, managed by PIMCO, the largest global bond manager. The portfolio is divided into two general sections. Firstly, higher yielding assets, which include corporate credit, mortgage backed securities and Emerging Market debt. These assets are expected to perform well during periods of robust economic growth. Secondly, higher quality assets, which currently consists mainly of government bonds in the US and Australia. These positions provide a balance to the portfolio, benefiting from periods of weaker economic growth or market turbulence. We have a high opinion of the management team and consider the strategy to have strong potential for long term outperformance over fixed income markets.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Derivatives may be used for efficient portfolio management. The fund invests in assets which are dominated in other currencies; hence changes in relevant exchange rate will affect the value of the investment.
